An evil spirit is tormenting a town in the middle of nowhere. It's up to you to take on the role of the detective who must investigate the scene of the crime, in order to discover its origin, its motives and its goal. While escaping from the castle, you will discover something unexpected, since the clues you will collect will have strong consequences on the direction of your survival. You start with one line of dialogue, and can progress to better lines by unlocking achievements. The story is developed based on a branching narrative, with various endings available. You have the possibility to dive into multiple sub-storylines. All the endings can be completed in any order and have their own consequences on the main storyline. Your actions and the choices you make during your adventure will shape your path, and will determine whether you will survive or not.
