About This Content

"The Georgian War" is a fictional campaign created by Chris "Viper" Long and Baltic Dragon, and is inspired by real events that took place during the Russo-Georgian War of 2008.

This campaign puts you in the role of a pilot who arrives in Tbilisi as part of a small detachment intended to present the capabilities of the F-15C to the Georgian government, which has expressed interest in purchasing several airframes. You and your colleagues are caught by surprise when armed conflict breaks out. As the fighting escalates, your small group is drawn into the war.

Throughout the campaign's 16 missions, the authors recreate some of the real-life events that happened between the 8th and 13th of August 2008. The fictionalized events presented in this campaign are based on extensive research from numerous Western and Russian publications, interviews with people who were directly involved on both sides, and several visits to the ABL (Administrative Boundary Line) with South Ossetia. The campaign aims to capture the pivotal moments of the 2008 war from a military perspective.

Key Features:

Words cannot describe just how good this campaign is. It brings DCS to a whole new level. The story is well thought out and immersive, missions brilliantly planned and integrated, and voice acting is at least as good if not better than in Hollywood movies. Sometimes it even feels like you are watching a good movie, except now it all depends on what you are doing. Even the longest flights are never boring; there are plenty of surprises.

After finishing it feels like I've just finished watching an incredible series or finished reading extraordinary book.

(In fact it is so good that I've bought M-2000C and A-10C just so I could try other campaigns from the same developers).. Exceptional campaign. By far the best I have played with the F-15C campaigns available. Had an absolute blast. Got a VR setup halfway through which made it even more immersive. Had no bugs, some missions were easy and some were hard but if you learnt from your mission failures you can and do get through them with a bit of smart thinking and it makes you a better pilot.

Awesome graphics and scenery and the narrative never got tiring. Just can't rate it enough and well worth it. Hope to see many more.
